What we collect

We collect personal information that you voluntarily provide to us when submitting an inquiry at our website, expressing an interest in obtaining information about us or our products and services, E-newsletters, participating in activities on the website, or otherwise contacting us.

The personal information we collect depends on the context of your interactions with us and the website and may consist of first and last name, address, phone number, email address(es), postal address, work affiliation, etc.

We reserve the right to collect email addresses of users who communicate with us via email, email addresses of users posting in chat areas or in article/blog comments, email addresses volunteered through surveys, site and/or content or event registration, and e-communication sign-up.

What we do with the information we collect

We may use your email address to contact you or send communications to you periodically for information that may be useful to you. We may use your information to contact you in case of issues or problems with payment transactions. Your contact information is sent over an encrypted connection and viewable only by authorized support staff.

We reserve the right to collect aggregate information about websites users' access or visit.

We reserve the right to use visitor information for new and/or unanticipated uses not previously described by the terms of service. In the event of a policy change, the terms and conditions of Ethos Therapy Solutions website will be updated accordingly. Information used for new purposes will only be collected after the announced policy change is in effect (e.g., user information from before a policy change will be protected by the original policies).

Content

Visitors shall not record in any format, present or publish on any of the services and/or event(s) contemplated herein in any way whatsoever including, but not limited to, social media without prior written consent of Ethos Therapy Solutions.

Cookies

We may use cookies and similar tracking technologies to access and store information. Cookies are used to store user preferences. A cookie is a small text file containing a unique identification number that is placed on the hard disk of your computer by a Web page server, enabling the Web server to identify your web browser and passively track its activities on that website. A cookie does not reveal any personally identifiable information that you have not otherwise disclosed. Cookies do not contain any executable code and cannot be used for infecting your computer with a virus. Most Web browsers automatically accept cookies but usually provide the option of configuring your browser to accept all cookies, reject all cookies, or notify you when a cookie is sent. You can change your settings in the preferences or options menu of your browser.

The information we collect is used to directly improve the navigation and content of our websites.
